FIGHT TO BREAK PEACE PARLEYS NOW AT CLIMAX

Lloyd George Prepares His Defense Against British Tories.

VOTE ON QUESTION

Irish Conference Halts While Fireworks Expected On Floor of Commons

London, Oct. 31.—Charging that the Irish peace conference "has been hopeless from the start" Colonel John Grettton, a coalition unionist, this afternoon in the house of commons moved a vote of censure against Premier Lloyd George and the cabinet's Irish policy.

"The government is seeking a pretext to break off the conference," Col. Grettton declared.

The coalition unionist speaker was greeted with ironical cheers as he began to speak. It was admitted generally throughout the house that the resolution was doomed and that the government would receive a big majority.

London, Oct. 31.—The fight of the British Tories to wreck the Irish peace conference and overturn the Lloyd George cabinet reached its climax today on the floor of the house of commons. The Unionist resolution censuring the Premier for his Irish peace policy was called up for final debate. Over the week end in the seclusion of his country home at Chequers court the premier had prepared his defense and it was generally expected that it would be the most brilliant oratorical effort of Mr. Lloyd George's long and spectacular public career.

According to the program the speech was to be followed by a vote in commons upon the Unionist resolution. Rejection of the resolution would mean endorsement of Premier Lloyd George's Irish peace policy and a continuance of the Irish peace conference. Acceptance of the resolution would mean a lack of confidence in the premier's Irish policy and the consequent breaking up of the Irish parley.

As the premier had been assured of support by the laborites, the coalition liberals and the independent liberals, he, himself and his adherents looked for an overwhelming majority in support of the cabinet and the Lloyd George Irish Policy.

The promise of fireworks on the floor of commons resulted in a crowded house with every member in his seat.

In the meantime, the Irish peace conference has halted its sessions. It is expected that it will resume action tomorrow at the premier's official residence at 10 Downing Street.

The crux of the Irish peace situation today was as follows: The Sinn Feiners are demanding that the proposed central parliament at Dublin shall be supreme and that any secondary legislature at Belfast must deal only with local affairs and be subservient to Dublin. The Ulster Unionists oppose this arrangement and demand an equal voice in Irish affairs with the Sinn Feiners.

It was admitted in official circles that the premier's proposed trip to Washington is again hanging in abeyance and that it will depend entirely upon the outcome of the vote in commons and the result of the Irish peace conference session tomorrow.

It was said that the premier in his speech would refuse to disclose the progress achieved in the Irish peace parley and would not discuss plans for the future, but would emphasize that the break off of the parley would mean the downfall of the coalition government and also intensified civil war in Ireland. The premier was expected to point out the tremendous price that England would have to pay in money and blood if war were resumed in Ireland.

BUSINESS HOLDING UP WELL FEDERAL BANK INDICATES

Cleveland, Oct. 31.—Improvement reported in nearly all lines in August is holding up well and "the time is near at hand when business can safely throw away its crutches," according to the monthly business review of the Fourth Federal Reserve Bank issued Sunday.

The steel and iron industry, which is considered the thermometer for many lines, reports fires have been started under many furnaces long idle, though there are still "too many smokeless stacks in the steel section" the statement declares.

The building industry is finding its stride and a marked improvement was shown last month in many lines of manufacture.

These facts, with many other encouraging signs show a healthy though slow growth toward renewed prosperity and tend to dim the spectre of unemployment, the report indicates.

MRS. UPTON MAY BE ADVISER AT ARMS CONFERENCE

Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton, of Ohio, chairman of the Woman's Republican Committee, who is prominently mentioned as a possible American woman delegate to the coming conference on the Limitation of Armaments.

COURT DEALS BODY BLOW TO ORGANIZED LABOR OF MINES

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 31.—A sweeping injunction barring the United Mine Workers of America from spreading unionism in West Virginia and practically killing the so-called "check off" system in the central competitive field, comprising the bituminous coal districts of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Western Pennsylvania, was issued by Judge Anderson in the U. S. District Court here today.

The injunction applies to virtually all Indiana operators using the "check off" system by which operators collect miners' union dues.

The decree, which union leaders have declared is a body blow to organized labor, will embarrass, but not destroy, the miners organization officials of the mine workers declared.

Judge Anderson's action was taken in the suit of the Borderland Coal Company representing sixty two other concerns operating in the Mingo county field of West Virginia in which the injunction to abolish the "check off" system and to prevent interference by the United Mine Workers with the operation in that field was asked.

FAIL TO LOCATE MAN GUILTY OF DOUBLE MURDER

Portsmouth, O., Oct. 31.—Although three days have now elapsed since the discovery of the bodies of John W. Newman, 26, Sunday School official and shoe worker, and Louise Doyle, 18, bookkeeper and church musician, authorities this morning are still without a tangible clue to the identity of the person who shot the couple, then dragged their bodies to an abandoned farm house on the Scioto trail, and left them there only to be discovered by chance.

As scores of friends and hundreds of curious followed the funeral cortege of the pretty little bookkeeper to the cemetery yesterday, police completed their questioning of their last known suspect and are now putting out a dragnet for an unknown lover, who, it is believed, prompted by jealousy, committed the double murder.

Newman's body now lies in the county morgue and will be buried by a lodge of which he was a member, this afternoon. His widow, prostrated with grief, remains faithful to his memory and asserts between sobs that there was "nothing wrong" in the relations between the two who took the ill-fated auto ride a week ago Friday night.

Senate Attempts to Wind Up Pending Legislation

Republican Leaders Hope to Dispose of Tax Measure—Anti-Beer Bill and Railroad Debt Funding Plan Before Opening of Regular Session Dec. 5.

Washington, Oct. 31.—With the opening of the regular session of congress December 5, but five weeks away, Republican leaders of the senate agreed today upon a tentative program by which they hope to dispose of (1) tax legislation; (2) the anti-beer bill and (3) the railroad debt funding bill before the close of the present extra session.

No special effort is to be made by them, it was stated, to press early passages of the modified foreign debt funding bill by which a commission appointed by the president would handle the $11,000,000,000 foreign indebtedness to the United States.

It probably will be permitted to go over to the regular session, if for no

NAVAL POLICIES ARE DISCUSSED BY "BIG FOUR"

Delegates to Arms Conference are Given Rank of Ambassadors.

BRITISH PLAN UP

Great Britain's Decision to Get Into Pacific Game Is Issue.

Washington, Oct. 31.—Questions relating to naval strength and naval policies were up for discussion today when America's four delegates to the approaching armament conference held their fourth formal discussion.

The delegates including Secretary of State Hughes were today given the rank of ambassadors by the state department. They will hold this rank for the duration of the armament conference, but it is understood that it will not be necessary for the senate to confirm them.

Secretary of State Hughes, as the head of America's delegates, has recently held a number of lengthy conferences with Secretary of the Navy Denby and the technical experts of the navy and the results of these conferences were placed before the big four today as a basis for consideration of naval issues.

It was suggested also that the reported action of Great Britain in deciding to send a substantial portion of her great fleet into Pacific waters might enter into the discussion of the American delegates.

Until a few months ago the imperial Japanese navy held almost undisputed sway in the Pacific. Most of the American fleet was concentrated in the Atlantic and Great Britain was contented, under the Anglo-Japanese alliance to allow Japan to police the Pacific.

With the advent of the Harding administration, however, there was an abrupt change in American naval policy. The American fleet was divided and fully half of it was sent to the Pacific for permanent station. The Pacific half, incidentally, comprises the latest and most powerful vessels of the American navy.

Now according to reports, Great Britain also has decided to get into the Pacific game. This action, coming as it does on the eve of the assembling of the Pacific and Armament conference, is causing keen speculation in Washington.

In some quarters the British move is taken to indicate that England does not intend to renew the Anglo-Japanese alliance and is thus putting her navy in the Pacific to look after the British interests where before she was content to let the alliance protect them.

In other quarters the move is interpreted as a desire on the part of Great Britain to enter the conference with her Pacific naval strength equal to that of Japan and the United States.

Whatever be the real reason behind Britain's reported action, the movement at this time is causing considerable talk in Washington.

Meanwhile, Washington's conference population continues to grow. Nearly every train brings some additions. The Chinese, numbering nearly 100 arrived last night. Tomorrow the main contingent of the Italians will arrive and on the following day the Japanese trio will reach the capital.

TWENTY DROWN

Antwerp, Oct. 31.—Twenty persons were drowned by the capsizing of the steamer August in the Scheldt, Sunday. Owing to the shifting of the cargo when the wheel jammed hard astern, the vessel took a heavy list, went over quickly and sank within a minute or two.

The passengers and crew below had no time to reach the deck. All those above decks were saved. The ship was only about 50 yards from shore when the accident happened and it is reported that the captain reached shore and disappeared.

NOISE TO USHER IN DAY.

Ashtand, Oct. 31.—All whistles are to blow and bells ring for two minutes as opening feature of Armistice Day celebration here. A military and civic parade, also, will feature the day's program.

EVELYN NESBIT ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

Evelyn Nesbit, former wife of Harry K. Thaw, attempted suicide in her apartment over her tea room in New York by taking a large dose of morphine, according to physicians. Attending physicians announced her condition as serious. Miss Nesbit, but a short time before her attempt on her own life, was served with a dispossession notice for non-payment of rent, and had been driven into a despondent frenzy over her inability to make both ends meet.

International Syndicate Formed To Exploit Russia

British, French, American and German Financiers Reach Tentative Agreement On Plan to Develop Natural Resources of Russia It Is Learned.

London, Oct. 31.—Tentative understandings have been reached between British, French American and German financiers for the creation of a gigantic international syndicate for the exploitation of Russia's natural resources, it was learned today in an exclusive interview with Felix Deutsch, manager of Germany's greatest corporation—the German General Electric company, Herr Deutsch came to London to confer with British financiers and has just completed a series of important meetings. The scheme for exploitation of Russia's vast natural wealth upon an international scale has been fostered for two years by Herr Deutsch and Walter Rathenau, German industrial magnate and former minister of reconstruction in the German cabinet.

"Although the scheme is still in the idea stage definite steps are expected within the next six weeks," said Herr Deutsch today. "Premier Lloyd George recognizes that reconstruction of Russia is necessary to the reconstruction of Europe. Although not all of the members of the British cabinet have supported the premier's Russian viewpoint, it is indicated now that Winston Churchill and other opponents now are coming around to Mr. Lloyd George's attitude."

Deutsch had a long conference with Mr. Churchill, the secretary of state for colonies.

Ask whether France would participate in an international syndicate of which Germany was a member, Herr Deutsch replied:

"M. Loucheur (French minister for liberated regions) was sounded on this subject and indicated that France is willing to co-operate."

FORMER PREMIER OF GREECE OBJECT OF ASSASSINATION

Venizelos Guarded By Secret Service Men Following Alleged Plot.

Chicago, Oct. 31.—Former Premier Venizelos of Greece is speeding west today protected by a special guard of secret service men following apparently authoritative reports of a plot to assassinate him. Venizelos is enroute to California.

Details of the plot, because of its extreme gravity have been kept in deepest secrecy. It is known, however, that the Venizelos party has been apprised of a danger ever since it landed in New York last week.

Venizelos while in Chicago appeared to shun open contact with the enthusiastic crowds which sought to follow him.

It is the theory of investigators that the assassinating conspiracy was designed by Greek royalists who foresee in Venizelos' visit to the United States a secret financial campaign for funds with which to overthrow King Constantine and restore the republican regime.

PALMER ATTACKED IN NEW STATEMENT

Washington, Oct. 31.—An attack on former Attorney General Palmer and a number of senators is made in a statement issued today by the board of temperance, prohibition and public morals of the Methodist Episcopal church regarding the beer regulations issued last week by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and based upon the decision of Palmer, "that doctors may prescribe unlimited booze."

"No one had any respect for Palmer's decision when he gave it," said the statement, "and no one has any respect for it now."

AMERICAN LEGION TAKES KANSAS CITY BY STORM AS CONVENTION OPENS

Third Annual Convention of Ex-Service Men's Association Gets Under Way On Monday—Vice President Coolidge Makes Address.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 31.—This city found itself in "occupied territory" today. The invading hosts of the American Legion damned the gateway of the west and the third annual convention of the legion opened at 8:30 o'clock amidst the greatest assemblage of former service men since the war.

"Meet your old buddies," was the slogan.

"Aid for our disabled comrades," was the chief business.

Distinguished guests who had already arrived were receiving a warm and cordial welcome from the legionnaires, an open handed, right from the heart welcome with formality thrust to the background. These, included Lieut. General Baron Jacques, Belgian war hero; General Armando Vittorio Diaz, Italian general and vice president, Calvin Coolidge who arrived yesterday and Admiral Earl Beatty, British naval hero; Major General John A. LeJune, U. S. Marine corps and Admiral Robert E. Coontz, U. S. N., who arrived this morning.

The greatest welcoming demonstration was not to break forth until late today.

Marshal Foch and General J. J. Pershing, together with Charles Bertrand of the French chamber of deputies and a delegation of Washington notables will arrive at 5:30 p. m. and the legion then will be "all present or accounted for."

The opening session of the convention was called to order by John G. Emory, national commander. There were 2,500 delegates and alternates present on the floor of the convention hall, while the galleries of the spacious building were packed with thousands. Every state was represented, while delegates were also present from Hawaii, the Philippines, Alaska and from legion posts in South America, France, England, Canada and Italy.

Business began with despatch as soon as the welcoming address and responses were concluded. The morning program was taken up with the reports of Commander Emory and the various national officers and with reports of committees.

The presentation of Vice-President Coolidge was also a part of the morning program.

At noon a memorial service was to be held for the late Frederick W. Galbreath, national commander who lost his life in the service of the legion at Indianapolis, June 9.

The afternoon was to be devoted largely to addresses by Gen. Baron Jacques, General Diaz and Maj. General Lejeune. Greetings were also to be extended by the official representatives of the American Federation of Labor, G. A. R., Spanish War Veterans, British Legion and the great war veterans of Canada.

Tonight Admiral Beatty and Admiral Coontz will address the legionnaires at the evening session.

The New York delegation, the last to arrive this morning and by far the largest single unit in the convention, New York having furnished one tenth of all the soldiers of the country in the war, announced that it would vote for New Orleans for the 1922 convention city.

THREATS ON LIFE OF CROWDER MADE

Havana, Ga., Oct. 31.—Threats against General Enoch Crowder and the U. S. legation in Havana, are contained in proclamations distributed here in connection with the Sacco-Vanzetti case. The posters denounce General Crowder as a representative of the American Bourgeoisie and threaten "the danger of vengeance" against the Americans.

The police, however, are taking prompt action. Saturday night they arrested 10 persons at the headquarters of a Syndicalist labor organization. A number of terrorist proclamations were found on the premises.

The prisoners will be given a preliminary hearing today in a special court which is investigating the terrorist agitation.

TWO ARE KILLED IN AUTO SMASH

He was driving toward Warren, and it is said, in attempting to pass the bus, the rear end of his machine struck the front wheel of the bus, hurling the lighter car up, side down in a ditch. Explosion of the gas tank followed.

One hundred and forty-eight children between the ages of five weeks and five years were examined during the Greene County Children's Health Clinic, which was held August 31, September 1, 2, 3 and 4 during the recent carnival. This information is contained in the report of Miss Helen Evers, Red Cross nurse, which has just been completed in detail.

The report also contains a number of other facts that are interesting, concerning the condition of children examined at that time by nurses and physicians.

Eighty-two boys, seventy-five of them white and seven colored, between the ages of five weeks and six years were examined; and sixty-six girl babies, sixty-one white and five colored, between two months and five years. Of this number the blue-eyed babies were greatly in the majority, there being 102 babies with blue eyes, and only thirty-five with brown eyes. Of the other babies 7 had gray and 3 hazel eyes.

The average weight of the boys at birth was 8.4 pounds, and of the girls 7.6 pounds. All ages having had whooping cough according to the report, number 14; having had measles 6; respiratory disease 6; diphtheria 2; pneumonia 3; chicken pox 9; influenza 6; tonsillitis 1; cholera infantum 1; eye and throat trouble and catarrh and mumps one each.

SELLS OUT GROCERY PROPERTY AFTER 18 YEARS MANAGEMENT

Michael Dunn, who for 18 years has operated a grocery in the Deweyville neighborhood, has sold out his grocery property at South Monroe streets and Cottage Grove avenue, to George Cavender and Tony Billie, who have already assumed management of the grocery.

With the sale of the grocery, Mr. Dunn announces his retirement from active business. He expects to spend the winter with his son, Harry Dunn, who owns and operates a number of hotels in Michigan and Wisconsin, with headquarters in Ishpeming, Mich.

His retirement marks the end of a long career in the grocery business. Before starting his grocery in Deweyville, Mr. Dunn was associated with his uncle, the late Henry Farrell, in the grocery business on South Detroit street and was also for a time connected with the A. M. Stark grocery where the Douglas drug store is now located. When he started his own grocery he operated it for ten years on Cottage Grove avenue, and eight years ago, built the new property at the corner of Monroe street and Cottage Grove avenue, which he has occupied since.

Mr. Dunn tells an interesting story in connection with the establishment of the free mail delivery system in Xenia. The system was put in effect during Cleveland's first administration, and Mr. Dunn, Martin Lucas and Jack Hook, were appointed the first carriers. They went to Dayton to obtain pointers on the system, as his local post office had never had free mail delivery before. The three carriers had to cover the entire city at that time.

At that time mail carriers were not protected by civil service, and when the administration in Washington changed all three of the local carriers were replaced by Republicans. Later the carriers' positions were placed under civil service and the late Henry Flagler took Mr. Dunn's place, served until his retirement in that position.

Every Tribe in the state is expected to send a delegation and it is assumed by local Red Men that the tribe here will be well represented. President Harding has announced that he will try to be present at the exercises.

METEORS DEFEATED BY CLOSE SCORE

St. Brigid's Meteors lost a heart-breaking football game to the Dayton Saxons at Reserve Park Sunday afternoon, by the score of 7-0, but were confident that they staged a real pigskin exhibition for the fans.

It was Herr, right end for the visitors, who caught a pass behind the goal line, and downed it for the only touchdown of the game, late in the fourth quarter. Xenia had punted and Dunleavy returned the oval to 20. Line charges advanced the pellet to the eight yard line. The pass, Dunleavy to Herr settled the difficulty and Ritter kicked the goal.

In a desperate effort to tie the score the Meteors returned the kickoff to the visitors' 40-yard line and a pass P. Rachford to F. Leach netted 30 yards. Line plunges advanced the ball to the two-yard line, when the game ended. The Meteors tried nine passes, completing five for a total of 152 yards. The Saxons completed two passes out of eight attempts for a total of 73 yards. Xenia made six first downs to the visitors nine. Lineup and summary:

AMERICAN LEGION TEAM PILES UP BIG SCORE SUNDAY

Although minus the services of several regular players, including the redoubtable Phil Buck, the American Legion football team easily outclassed the Dayton Independents at Gatch Field, Sunday afternoon, by the score of 41-13.

A wet field caused frequent fumbles and slowed up the backfield work on both sides, but the heavier Legion combination outpointed the visitors in all departments and having rolled up a sizable score, took things easy the balance of the pastime.

Owens scored first for Xenia a few minutes after the start of the game, after the Dayton team had been forced to punt. Fuller missed the goal attempt. A pass, Stephens to Owens netted the second counter in the second period and Fuller kicked goal. In the same period a pass, Stephens to Walker netted a third touchdown, and Fuller again kicked goal, the half ending 20-0.

The Stephens to Walker combination worked again to start the second half, and Fuller again added the goal point. Stephens pulled the sensational in this period, when he received a Dayton punt and ran through the entire Dayton team for a touchdown. A combination of line plunges with one pass, enabled quarterback Murphy to score the visitor's first touchdown in the same period. Holland returned the kickoff to Dayton's tenyard line, where Tullis was called back and smashed the line for a touchdown in three attempts. Fuller again kicking goal. Here Holland kicked off to Murphy who dashed through the entire Legion team for a touchdown. The lineup and summary:

Mr. Rankin was president of the bank of South Charleston, which was organized in 1865 by his father, John Rankin, and other pioneer residents of South Charleston. He was born and spent most of his life in that vicinity, and was for many years one of the leading business men of the village.

He was re-appointed in 1902 and took an active part in the erection of the new normal building at Wilberforce. He was active in the affairs of the institution and his efforts were a factor in promoting its interests. Following his resignation from the college board, Mr. Rankin was appointed a member of the state fish and game commission, under former Governor Herriek. He was also prominently connected with the Masonic lodge.

PANIC FOLLOWS CRASH OF TRAINS; FIFTY ARE INJURED

Elevated Trains Come Together in Brooklyn Early Sunday.

New York, Oct. 31.—Fifty persons were injured early Sunday when a crowded West-End passenger train was rammed by a "day-up" train in the heavy fog on the elevated structure at Seventy-ninth street and New Utrecht avenue, Brooklyn.

The fact that passenger train had not left the Seventy-ninth street station and that the all-star cars resisted the shock prevented a catastrophe, officials said.

Fully 8,000 persons who were in trains stalled for miles behind the wreck were forced to walk along a narrow plank gangway alongside the third rail to the nearest stations in imminent peril every foot of the way.

A panic followed the crash and men and women fought to escape from the darkened train. All lights were extinguished and the cries of the injured terrorized those trapped in the forward cars. Women's clothing was torn from their backs in the scramble for safety.

TOLL COLLECTOR INJURED.

Bridgeport, Oct. 31.—Charles Sprouts, toll collector on an Ohio river bridge here, ran in front of an auto driven by J. J. Brophy, of Pittsburgh, to collect toll from another autoist. CHURCH ENDORSES ACTION TAKEN BY PROSECUTOR HERE

The congregation of the Second United Presbyterian Church, took action Sunday, endorsing the stand taken by Prosecuting Attorney J. Kenneth Williamson against the continuation of the revival meetings being conducted here by T. Rev. S. Douglas McDuffie.

Indictment of McDuffie on a serious offense, led to considerable agitation against his being permitted to hold revival meetings pending his trial, in the Opera House, leading to the protest of the Prosecutor being filed with city authorities.

Friday night, however, the evangelist abandoned the Opera House and held his meeting at the Rink, a plan which he followed again Sunday night. It is claimed that it is necessary to have an auditorium as large as the rink in which to hold the large crowds that attend the services. People who attended Sunday night say that the meeting was largely attended and that its popularity hurt the regular evening services at other colored churches in the city.

There seems to be a feeling among colored people that McDuffie is an excellent speaker, and his sermons here have always proved popular among the colored people. McDuffie seems to be preaching with very little care for the trial he is awaiting and the possibility of the outcome being a jail sentence.

Washington, Oct. 31.—John Kjellanger, state prohibition director for Illinois today tendered his resignation to Prohibition Commissioner Haynes. Kjellanger gave no reasons for his action and the prohibition commissioner's office would make no statement, further than to say that the resignation was being considered. It is believed that the resignation may be due to the fact that Kjellanger has resented interference with the operation of his office by the prohibition commissioner's office in Washington.

CITY COMMISSION RACE BIGGEST ISSUE BEFORE VOTERS ONE WEEK FROM TUESDAY; BOND ISSUE FOR NEW SCHOOL COMES UP

One week from Tuesday, the voting public of Greene County, now greatly enhanced by the ballot power accorded to women, will crowd the 47 precincts throughout the county and cast their votes on the local and state wide issues.

Three amendments to the state constitution, now present themselves as the most important issues that will face the voters November 8. They are: The question of providing a bonus for all ex-service men, which is being strenuously sponsored by the American Legion; the question of a poll tax, which would give the general assembly the power of levying a poll or per capita tax, such as is in force in many states; and thirdly, the amendment providing for the reduction of the state senatorial districts from 34 to 26, with the number of senators ranging from 32 to 36.

The fight in Xenia, will center on the election of three men to the city commission to succeed J. Thorb Charters, C. S. Frazer and Arthur Whalen, whose terms expire the first of the year. There are five candidates from whom to choose the three new commissioners. Three of these candidates, endorsed by a committee of citizens, are Judge H. L. Smith, Judge M. J. Hartley and George H. Hudson. The other two candidates, who are running independently, are A. E. Kildow and Dr. H. R. Hawkins, colored candidate. Two members of the city commission, Dr. A. D. DeHaven and Harry Fisher, hold over, having been elected last year, and the three new commissioners elected, will take their seats January 1, with these two men. In spite of the fact occasioned by the fact that there are more candidates than there are positions to fill, there seems to be very little talk on the commission tangle at present and little comment on the election.

With two positions to be open on the Xenia city board of education, and three candidates in the field, a fight for school board membership is also promised. Jacob Kany and A. G. Spahr, both present members of the board, are candidates for re-election and E. C. Schweibold, is the third man in the field. There has been no comment to speak of on the situation as yet.

Two hundred and sixty-eight candidates are in the field for assessors, school board members, trustees, township and village treasurers, clerks, marshals, constables, justices of the peace, mayors, councilmen and other minor offices throughout the townships and villages in the county, some of which are contested and some of which are not. For county board of education there is no fight, A. L. Fisher, W. B. Bryson and J. E. Hastings being the candidates and three position to fill.

Outside the election of officers, the only other issue that will come before the voters will be the question of a $10,000 bond issue for a new school, to be voted on in Beaver Creek township school district.

Xenia city voters will cast their ballots in 14 new precincts, while voters in the county will use 33 polling places.

The nearer approach of the Arms Conference at Washington and the increasing certainty that that conference will necessarily deal with the financial questions is the most important factor of general significance to the market is now on the horizon. Not only the revision of our tax system, but the whole program of the funding of the international indebtedness may be largely influenced by the outcome of this meeting. It has become a factor in the financial situation which must be ranked as of first importance.

RAILROAD STRIKE AVERTED

The calling off of the threatened railroad strike is a great moral victory for the Government and is of course good for the railroads as well as the whole country. Those in a position to know however, have felt that there could be no other result for the reason that a number of affiliated unions were not in sympathy with the walkout and public sentiment was against it, and the great number of people out of employment rendered the success of the undertaking very doubtful at the outset. This situation has of course been well understood by the union heads, nevertheless they deserve credit for displaying good sense in rescinding their strike order, notwithstanding that it was delayed until the eleventh hour. So far as the roads are concerned, however, it still leaves open the matter of lower freight rates, which the railroads under present conditions can ill afford to make so long as operating costs continue at their present high level, and these can only be materially reduced by a further readjustment in wages which the Labor Board apparently is not inclined to sanction for some months to come. Pending the decision, not merely of the strike (but of the wage and rate situation of the roads it is not strange that the general public should have held aloof from the market and especially from railroad securities fearful of the consequences of the controversy.

GENERAL BUSINESS UNDISTURBED

It is gratifying to note that general business has been singularly little disturbed by the strike prospects. In some parts of the country there would seem to have been an effort to produce and ship rather more largely than would otherwise have been the case had there not been a prospect that the movement of freight would be "tied up" at the end of the month. Business however, in not a few branches is still showing the continued results of the depression. The quarterly report of the United States Steel Corporation although exhibiting an improvement for September over the preceding August and July, is a favorable factor, notwithstanding that the combined figures are bad when compared with previous quarters of this year. The showing made by Central Leather may be regarded as a moderate improvement. In the oil industry Mexican Petroleum's large reported earnings have naturally been taken as a helpful element. Continued firmness on the part of the copper shares has been an encouraging phase of the weeks developments, although it is still uncertain just how much real improvement has taken place in the copper business itself. Excellent reports from textile and leather industries continue to support the belief that those lines of trade have been fairly thoroughly readjusted. Particular encouragement is to be drawn from the fact that prices have apparently been more fully stabilized. Current index numbers show that the average level is now either holding its own or else advancing. The definite termination of the strike threat ought to confirm the greater confidence of business in the outlook.

CONGRESSIONAL ACTION STILL DELAYED

The failure of Congress to adopt the tax revision bill during the past week has been a disappointment to those who believed that an early vote would be taken. Adop-Sound.

FLOOD TAKES TOLL OF TWENTY THREE; THIRTEEN MISSING

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 31.—Twentythree persons are known to be dead, 13 and perhaps more are missing and 15 are nursing serious injuries as a result of the disastrous flood which plunged down a steep mountainside Friday night and transformed the model copper mining settlement of Britannia Beach into a scene of desolation and ruin.

Fully half of the 110 neat, freshly-painted cottages were carried away on the crest of the flood. Others were smashed to pieces by the force of the onrushing waters and most of the remainder were still partially submerged last night.

Four children are dead and 10 others are reported to be missing. Ten of the dead and all of the injured were brought to Vancouver Saturday evening on the steamer Capilano. All the injured are expected to recover.

An energetic search for the missing was made today, but the work was necessarily slow because of the difficulties in clearing away the wreckage. It is considered doubtful if the bodies of some of the missing will ever be recovered, as they are believed to have been washed into the muddy waters of Howe Sound.

HALLOWE'EN WILL BE CELEBRATED ON MONDAY EVENING

While this city will celebrate Halloween generally, Monday night, there will be no special arrangements in celebration of the day.

At Jamestown and at Yellow Springs plans have been made for special celebrations, including games, contests, barbecues, masked parades and dances.

The spirit and season of Halloween has been forecast here for many days in the season's social functions, and within the last few days, many masked figures have appeared on the streets, on their way to various parties.

No local celebration of the night of witches and hobgoblins has been planned however, and although it is expected that the usual masqueraders will fill the streets, many are expected to attend the celebrations in other places.

The origin of Halloween is said to date before the time of Christ, although its name is of Christian origin, and means in fact, the vigil or eve of All Saints' Day, November 1, the present derivative coming from All Hallow's Eve.

The ceremonies with which the night is celebrated in this country, however, are purely of pagan origin, based on the belief that of all nights in the year, this particular night is the one most likely to wander about.

From this belief has originated the practice of dressing in weird costume, and of the lighting of bonfires as was the custom of the ancient Druids who thus honored the Sun god in thanksgiving for the harvest.

From the serious purposes of the original Halloween celebration the program has gradually changed until it is now of merry-making and enjoyment.

WILBERFORCE LOSES TO EASTERN SCHOOL

Lincoln University football team, of Philadelphia, Pa., member of the "Big Eight" in colored college athletics, defeated Wilberforce at Wilberforce Saturday afternoon, 21 to 6.

The contest was chiefly a highly developed exhibition of the aerial game, both sides using the pass to advantage. Wilberforce showed its best form in the opening period, when after kicking off to Lincoln, it kept the pellet within the visitors' territory all of the time, but lacked the scoring punch at critical times.

Again in the second half, Wilberforce took on some pep and threw a scare into the camp of the Lincoln followers, when it advanced the oval to the ten yard line, but failed to deliver. Captain Law of Lincoln, and Captain Brady Tripp of the Wilberforce eleven, starred for their respective teams. Tripp's defensive play being especially good.

HOW HENRY FORD WOULD RUN THE PENNSYLVANIA.

How Henry Ford would run the Pennsylvania or other railroads is told in the current issue of the Nation's Business in an authorized interview.

If you were operating a railroad such as the Pennsylvania or the New York Central, Mr. Ford was asked, how would you proceed.

"In any such case I would immediately set about accomplishing four things," he replied. "I would reorganize in such a way as to get rid of the unproductive stockholder. I would redesign the rolling stock. I would expedite the delivery of freight. I would discharge unnecessary employees.

"The real purpose of a railroad is to serve the public. There is no reason why it should be diverted from that service and set to doing an entirely different thing—putting money into the pockets of stockholders who make no contribution to the road's actual operation.

"Railroads should not have to go to banks for money. The first thing is to make a railroad work. Then there will be no trouble about finances.

"After removing this dividend drain, the second step would be to remove the great physical burden of the railroads—needless weight of its rolling stock. Engines and cars are four or five times as heavy as they should be.

"The third step, an immediate step which should be taken in the operation of any great railroad system, would be expediting the journey of the freight carrier. On the Detroit, Toledo, and Ironton we tolerate no idle men. Trains on side tracks are proof of inefficient operation. They can be made to keep moving.

"Another point is the surplus and inefficient employees. Most railroads have enough lawyers working for them to operate them if they were engaged in useful work.

"We don't claim to have done anything new in railroading—yet. We have simply cut out the loafing of men, the loafing of engines, and the loafing of cars. There is no mystery about it. Any one can do it.

Explaining the reduction in the working force of his railroad when he acquired it he said: "In the interest of better service we raised the wages of all who remained on the payroll. You can't pay them until you hitch up managerial ability with their work. Our men earn more and do more, because the way has been cleared for them to do more. There are too many bosses of varying rank on railroad jobs."

"If you were asked to operate one of the big systems, such as the New York Central or the Pennsylvania, would you accept the assignment?" he was asked, and he replied:

"I don't like to appear as criticizing any railroad manager. With their stockholders on their backs and their banker bosses who don't know anything about railroading, what can they do? They must be liberated from the present system. And you can't do that by giving them $500,000,000 to perpetuate the present bad system, either."

WASHINGTON PLANNED TO BE THE MOST BEAUTIFUL CITY IN THE WORLD.

Frederick V. Murphy, architect, back from Rome, Paris, London, and Berlin, says that architecturally, Washington will surpass any city in the entire world before many years have rolled around. "At the present time the Capital of our nation," said Mr. Murphy, "is just beginning to emerge from its plastic stage—that is, it is just beginning to take form. Because the originator of the city plan visioned the future, the work of making Washington the most beautiful city in the world is not so tremendous a task as it might have been. Had not Major l'Enfant laid out the basic plan for Washington's streets with that foresight which characterized the completed fabric, so far as the street scheme was concerned, no amount of labor might make this city the equal of other cities in the old world, not to consider some in the new world, for there are cities in America that will some day be as beautiful as any I ever saw abroad. Rome in all its grandeur—and there is no one who doubts that Rome is built on solid lines—will not be as impressive a city as Washington when the weavings of time have been traced on the structures which will rise along the Potomac. As the fine arts commission has promised, each and every building that will be erected from now on in this city must adhere strictly to a rigid plan. That fact alone insures Washington's transcendence over all other cities in the world. There are some of them that started too late toward attaining the goal we are after."

THE THRILLING QUESTION IS BABY TALK TO CHILDREN INJURIOUS TO THEM?

We were interested in a dispatch from Philadelphia to the Chicago Tribune the other day which quoted Dr. Gladys E. Ide, Director of Special Education of the Philadelphia schools, as saying that it is not injurious for parents to talk "baby talk" to their children, and adding that "baby talk is not acquired from parents who talk baby talk to their children."

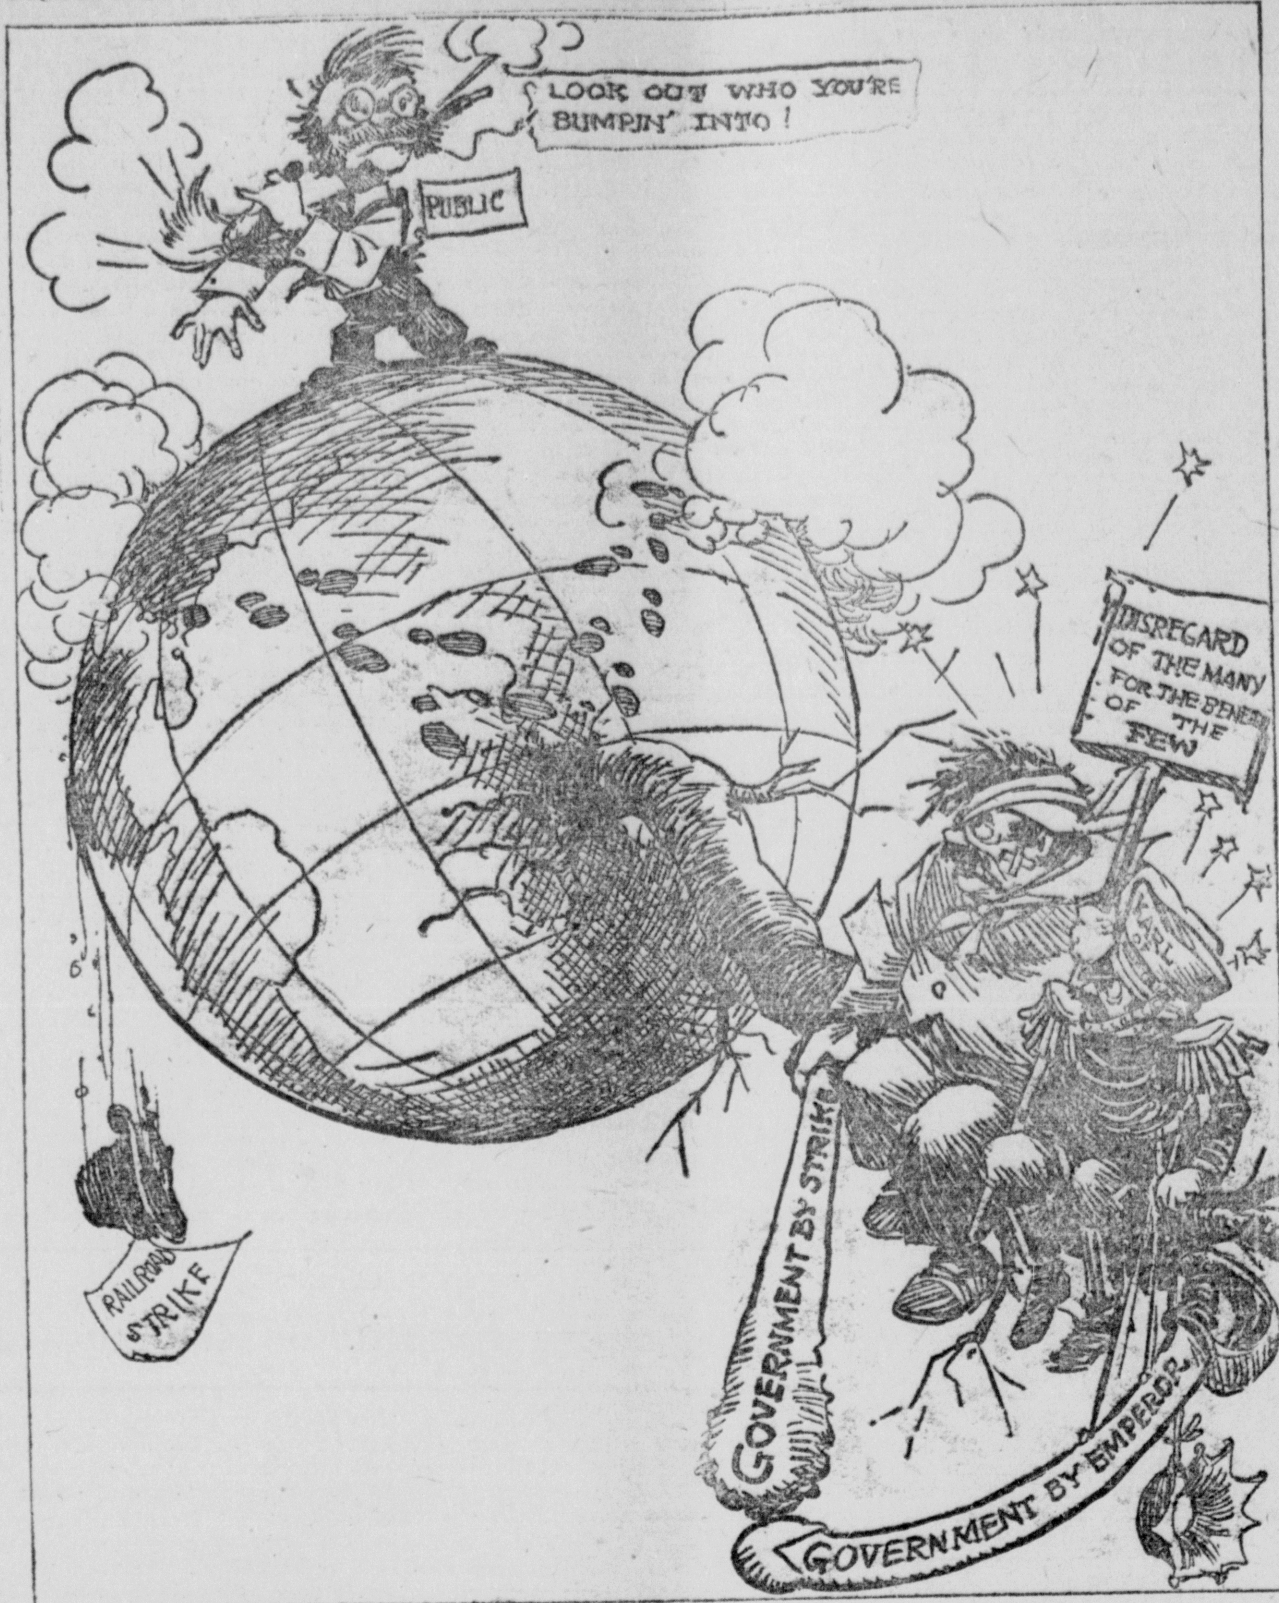

Frank Andrews, of Chicago, replied to this in the Tribune, and we mention just two or three of the fifty-seven varieties of reasons why the Philadelphia doctorette is wrong.

A child does not repeat sounds which he has not heard. He learns to talk by hearing others talk. If he hears only baby talk, he will use only baby talk.

To illustrate, a child's speech recording mechanism may be compared to a blank phonograph record. This disc records the sounds transmitted to it. If "tat" (for cat) is transmitted, "tat" is recorded; and if "tat" is always used within the hearing of the child, where and how and when is he to learn to use the proper word?

Of course, the child may outgrow the influences of baby talk, and perhaps most of them do; but the extent to which this practice of parents and others affects the child all through life is at least debatable. In any event, the child must unlearn the baby talk and learn something else; and it would seem, even to a layman, that there is a splendid opportunity for the little tongue to get a permanent twist or kink in it while the child is trying to decide which of the confusing records he should put on his talking machine.

1901--Twenty Years Ago--1921

Mr. Harry Graver, formerly connected with the D. and X. traction line but who has been with an electric railway in the East for some time, is again shaking hands with his friends in this city.

The Republican meeting at the opera house last night, was not a large one but the house was comfortably full. Speakers during the evening were Ex-Lieutenant W. C. Lyon and Hon. C. L. Landis. Several members of the Garfield Club of Dayton, were in the city last night and attended the meeting at the Opera House. They afterwards held a little banquet at the Florence Hotel.

A reunion of the First O. V. L. was held in this city today. A part of Company E was raised in Greene County and in honor of the company here, the members of the association assembled and were delightfully entertained.

There are several ways of getting rid of a double chin. First of all there is diet, and secondly, there is massage. The best way to eliminate a double chin is to try both methods, also a third method, which is to make use of astringents.

A double chin is a deposit of unnecessary flesh. To put it untechnically, flesh spreads itself in fine layers under the skin. A thin layer of fat under the scalp means that the roots of the hair have that much nourishment and that the hair will be thick and glossy. Layers of flesh over the body give the curves that we call beauty. But when these layers grow too thick and become positive lumps the lines are no longer pleasing to the beauty lover's eye.

One of the first places where unnecessary flesh is deposited is under the chin. If you diet so that you weigh the proper amount and never any more you are not likely to acquire a double chin. But if you already have one you must not only diet in order that the body may use up the superfluous flesh, but you must also massage in order to break up the particles of it so that the blood may carry them off to other parts of the body.

Then because the skin has stretched to cover these layers of flesh, you must make frequent use of astringents. Otherwise your chin will not regain its firm and youthful appearance. If possible massage under the chin with ice. This reduces flesh and at the same time tightens the skin.

Anxious Rose—Worried—E. M.

The action of yeast is to provide vitamins which are usually lacking from the diet of the people who are troubled with these skin blemishes. Nature then regulates itself. If the diet had not been impoverished by a poor selection of foods, there probably would have been no need of the yeast and the skin would be clear of pimples and liver stains. Yeast does not fatten of itself, but the person may increase in weight, when there is this regulation of the system through improved nourishment and elimination.

T. A. Lardine—The old fashioned Castile is a good choice for all toilet uses, including that of all soaps. The fragrance which comes from airing and sunning the hair is to be preferred to any scent which would be used in a shampoo. A drop or two of atar of rose on some absorbent cotton, makes a dainty scent for lingerie. While this is more costly than most sachets, it is enduring; two drops should keep a drawer fragrant for six months.

L. G.—Pull out each coarse or dark hair by using a blunt-end hair tweezer, and bleach the fine hair with peroxide of hydrogen. To remove this hair permanently, have the electric needle treatment.

DEATHS IN MINES LESS SHOWS REPORT

Washington, D. C., Oct. 31.—According to reports received by the United States Bureau of Mines from various state mine inspectors, 152 men were killed during September in and about the coal mines of the country, as compared with 197 killed in the corresponding month in 1920. The 1921 figures show a decrease of 45 fatalities, or about 23 per cent, from the record of the same month of last year. Based upon an estimated output of 42,229,000 short tons in September, 1921, the fatality rate is 3.60 per million tons produced. The corresponding rate for September last year was 3.65 and the production of coal was 52,810,000. The production of coal during September, 1921, represents a decrease of 22 per cent.

The average number of lives lost during September of each year from 1913 to 1920 has been 189. The production of coal has averaged 51,886,000 tons, showing a fatality rate of 3.64 per million tons as representative of the month of September for the past eight years.

During the first nine months of the present year 1455 men have been killed by accidents at coal mines, against 1686 killed during the corresponding months of 1920, a decrease of 231 fatalities, or 14 per cent. The output of coal for the same months was 362,890,000 short tons in 1921 and 473,100,000 tons in 1920, a decrease, during the present year of 110,200,000 tons or 23 per cent. These figures represent a fatality rate of 4.01 per million tons mined in 1921 and 3.56 per million tons mined in 1920.

Of the total of 152 fatalities during September 30 occurred at the bituminous coal mines in Pennsylvania, a decrease of 15 from September a year ago; 25 in West Virginia, a decrease of 6; 15 in Illinois, a reduction of 3; 6 in Kentucky, a reduction of 8; 5 in Ohio, a reduction of 13; 5 in Alabama, a reduction of 4; 3 in Indiana, a reduction of 12. At the anthracite mines in Pennsylvania, 41 men were killed, as against 20 during September of last year.

WHEN NERVES ARE UNSTRUNG

Gude's Pepto-Mangan Builds Up Vigor and Strength

There are times when men and women cannot help losing strength. They try to do too much or they lose sleep or do not eat enough food that nourishes. Blood becomes sluggish because poisons clog it. Faces grow pale and body looking. It is not long before nerves get unstrung.

The best way to start a change for the better is to take a course of Gude's Pepto-Mangan. It builds the blood. The weakness from a lack of red cells in the blood is overcome. Gude's Pepto-Mangan sends a fresh supply of red cells streaming through the blood. Good blood, pure and free from poisons, starts building vigor and strength. Sleep is better appetite keener so that the body becomes properly nourished. Druggists have Gude's Pepto-Mangan in both liquid and tablet form. The name "Gude's Pepto-Mangan" is on the package.

THE MOURNER.

My mind had grown so galled and sore, from viewing social smashes, I started for the sackcloth store, to buy a ton of ashes. "These modern ways," I said, aghast, "are all beyond enduring, and every stand-by of the past has broken from its mooring. I do not like to kick and carp, or shed the tears in billows, but I must hang my famous harp upon the well known willows. For things have changed since I was young and lived in far Aurora, and dizzy curves are daily sprung, that capture my Angora." And, thinking of that storied town, old men I recollected, who used to wander up and own, disconsolate, dejected. Oh, that was forty years ago, and they were always saying that modern things were steeped in woe, and virtue was decaying. "And are we old boys dotard sires?" I cried, "has old age hipped us, that we intend to hang our lyres upon a eucalyptus? Have I grown like those graybeards dour who groaned in bygone seasons, and said the world was turning sour, and bored us with their seasons? I'll have to can the sob and sigh, discard the mourning border; no bolt of sackcloth shall I buy, no ashes shall I order." And then I went to Jimpson's shop, where ice cold drinks are mingled, and drank three quarts of lemon pop, and through my works it tingled.

THE MASTER

He makes no visible motions. He says nothing. No brass buttoned lackeys, with bowing manners, attend him. He lives in a house of dignity, rather than one of display.

In hidden simplicity does he work. But he has servants—thousands of them! They tumble over each other to serve him at his call. For he is that sort of Master to whom immediate obedience is made.

None of the earth have even been beneath him. To him did Alexander go. To him did Napoleon owe all that he achieved. To him Cromwell, Washington, Lincoln, Carlyle, Emerson, Poe, Gladstone, Gambetta, Darwin paid daily tribute.

At his direction did Foch lead the millions of soldiers that brought Allied victory in the late World War.

Confucius acknowledged him—and so did Jesus.

His is an eternal life through the myriad years of time, space and events.

Your hands, your feet, your tongue, your heart, your stomach, your veins and arteries, your lungs, and every intricate part of your marvelous organism has to do with him—the Master!

If you are down he can pull you up. If you are mediocre, and yet have great heart, he is able to lead you into the path of greatness.

He is never idle. Even in the deadness of night does he dream.

But he must be respected. He must be appreciated. He must be given space wherein he may work and play.

And when you come to know him in all his power, in all the possibilities of his mysterious and magnificent make-up, he is able to be—and WILL BE, indeed—YOUR Master. And yet he will serve you throughout all your days.

His name—Your Brain!

DEATH SUMMONS COMES SUNDAY TO MRS. C. L. JOBE

There passed away early Sunday morning, Oct. 30, one of Xenia's best known women, Mrs. Charles L. Jobe. She had been ill, with a lingering malady, for five months, gradually growing worse to the end, but providentially was kept from extreme suffering. She passed away in the shadow of her childhood home, next door, in Xenia.

Margaret Louise Moore, daughter of John and Mary Ann Moore was born October 11, 1863. She was educated in the Xenia schools, graduating in 1882. She was married to Charles L. Jobe September 9th, 1886, and has always resided in Xenia. She was the mother of two children—one daughter, Helene, who became the wife of Mr. Homer Corry, died December 4th last; and another daughter, Marguerite, the wife of Mr. Karl Bloom of this city.

She also leaves two grandchildren, the children of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Bloom, and three brothers, George Wallace and Thomas Moore, all of this city.

She had been a Christian all her life, her last church membership being with the Presbyterian church here, where she was long president of the Missionary Society and took an active part in all church work. She was a charter member of the Xenia Junior Woman's Club. Her loyalty to Xenia city was marked for she took especial interest in civic improvement. The Pennsylvania railroad park on So. Detroit street and the excellent beautification of East Main street being largely the results of her endeavor. One of the sad things to remember, is her grief over the death of her daughter, Helene, less than a year ago.

The funeral will take place from the residence on East Market street Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Funeral and burial will be private.

MRS. SARAH M'CLURE DIES SATURDAY IN TOLEDO; BURIED HERE

Mrs. Sarah Jane Steele McClure, widow of Frank A. McClure, formerly of this city, died at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. W. G. Dice, 2307 Glenwood avenue, Toledo, Saturday evening at 4:40 o'clock.

She had been in ill health for years, and was bedfast for more than a year preceding her death.

Mrs. McClure was born at Bellbrook, July 6, 1833. She was married to Frank A. McClure, July 23, 1857. Mr. McClure died in 1877. Of the five children born to them, one died in infancy a son passed away at the age of four years, and a daughter, Clara, the wife of John L. Connable, died in 1885. There are surviving two daughters, Mrs. Gertrude McClure Dice, of Toledo, and Mrs. Nettie McClure Williams of Douglass, Long Island.

Mrs. McClure left Xenia about 20 years ago, to make her home with her daughter in Toledo. She was a member of Xenia Presbyterian church during her residence here, but transferred her membership to a Toledo church.

The remains of Mrs. McClure arrived at 7:42 Monday morning, and were accompanied by her son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. W. G. Dice. Funeral services were held Monday at 3:15 o'clock at the Woodland chapel in charge of the Rev. William H. Tilford, of the Presbyterian Church.

FISH AND GAME BODY WILL MEET

The Greene County Fish and Game Protective Association will meet Tuesday night, at the Chamber of Commerce, at 7:30 o'clock, it is announced by R. H. Kingsbury, secretary.

Plans for the annual banquet of the organization, which this year it is promised, will be a venison banquet, will be taken up at the meeting and all members are being urged to be present.

THIS YOUNG MOTHER Tells Childless Women What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Did for Her

Millston, Wis.—"I want to give you a word of praise for your wonderful medicine. We are very fond of children and for a considerable time after we married I feared I would not have any owing to my weak condition. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I have a nice strong healthy baby girl. I can honestly say that I did not suffer much more when my baby was born than I used to suffer with my periods before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound years ago. I give all the credit to your medicine and shall always recommend it very highly."—Mrs. H. H. JANSSEN, Millston, Wisconsin.

How can women who are weak and sickly expect or hope to become mothers of healthy children? Their first duty is to themselves. They should overcome the derangement or debility that is dragging them down, and strengthen the entire system, as did Mrs. Janssen, by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and then they will be in a position to give their children the blessing of a good constitution.

HUGE PREPARATIONS FOR STOCK SHOW

Preparations on a gigantic and unsurpassed scale is being made at Chicago for the 1921 International Live Stock Exposition, November 26th to December 3rd. An army of carpenters, painters, electricians and other mechanics is setting the stage for the greatest of America's annual spectacles. Weeks of this preparation, involving an enormous outlay, is necessary to insure a success that is more emphatic with each recurring year. Light and color schemes, unique and elaborate are being evolved; conveniences for visitors are being planned; and no effort is being spared to make this year's Exposition the best of the series extending over more than a score of years.

Huge piles of lumber, a myriad of lights, vast quantities of material of various kinds and uncalculable human energy are involved in these preparations. On light effects alone a large sum of money is expended by way of insuring brilliancy to the evening entertainments that have capped the climax of display ever since the inception of this Exposition, placing and keeping it well in the front ranks of public institutions of this character. To preserve its preeminence the management has given carte blanche to designers and constructors. As armies are reputed to travel a certain fashion, so is the International Live Stock Exposition crawling on to success. Exhibits are being staged which will show how this country's vast store of forage may be used to best advantage and how economy in production may be exercised in the feeding of livestock which will again put us on the road to renewed prosperity. Let all now lay their plans to attend the greatest live stock exhibition this year.

A NOURISHING HOME DINNER

The following dinner menu is what a jolly little bride friend of mine calls a "regular hold-a-husband dinner!"

Oyster Soup
Veal Cutlet, Brown Gravy
Lyonnaise Potatoes
Spinach
Snow Pudding

Oyster Soup: Clean and pick over 1 quart of oysters; heat these, chopped, in their liquor, and let simmer 20 minutes after the boiling point is reached. Then strain through cheese-cloth, discarding the chopped oysters. Reheat the strained liquor and thicken it with 1-3 cup of butter and 1-3 of flour which have been heated together and rubbed to a smooth paste. Now scald 4 cups of sweet milk with 1 large slice of onion 2 stalks of celery cut small, 1 blade of mace and a sprig of parsley; strain this scalded milk to remove the seasonings and add it to the oyster liquid. Season to suit taste with salt and pepper, and serve very hot.

Lyonnaise Potatoes: This is a most delicious way to serve boiled potatoes. Slice the potatoes and set them aside to add later to the frying pan. Put first in the pan 1 tablespoon of finely-chopped onion and 1-2 tablespoons of butter; try the onions until a light brown, then add 1 quart of the sliced boiled potatoes with 2 more tablespoons of butter. Cook until the potatoes have absorbed the butter and then pack down to let the mixture brown a little on the bottom. Turn with a spatula to allow the top to brown also. Serve at once. If onion is a favorite vegetable in the family, a more generous amount of it may be used to 1 quart of potato slices.

Snow Pudding: Soak 1 tablespoon of granulated gelatin in 1-4 cup of cold water; add 1 cup of granulated sugar and 3 tablespoons of lemon juice, and strain through a fine sieve into a china bowl. Set the bowl aside from time to time tip it up on one side to see whether the gelatin has begun to congeal. When the liquid begins to cling to the sides of the bowl and seems quite thick it is time to beat into it with a wire whisk the whites of 3 eggs which have been beaten stiff. Continue to beat until the pudding is stiff enough to hold its shape. Pile this by spoonfuls into individual glass dessert dishes or cups and serve with a cold boiled custard made in the following way:

THE NEW GENERATION

By Jane Phelps

JOAN TELLS MARGARET OF ANOTHER FRIEND CHAPTER 77.

Margaret had asked Joan to tell her about the man with whom she had the telephone conversation, the one whom she had told she would not marry until he had a chance to propose.

"He's a friend of Dean Tennant's. A very interesting fellow. He wears corduroy clothes, winter and summer, and never wears a hat. He has done all sorts of interesting things, traveled all over as a hobo although he is really educated along many lines. He's terribly clever and everyone likes him. His name is Rexford Taylor."

"But couldn't he be just as clever and wear a hat?"

"He thinks it is good for his hair—I guess he also thinks he can think better. He's written several books, I guess he didn't make much money from them. He is always broke. I ask him to dinner once in a while. He never bores me."

Margaret smiled at Joan's last remark. One might think her bias to hear her talk of being bored, and the child was as ingenious as a girl of five about many things.

"That's something—not to be bored," Margaret said after a moment. Then, but surely you don't think men who have lived that sort of life are the good companions, do you?"

"Why not? He hasn't done anything wrong! You conventional people make me tired. I beg your pardon, Mumsie, but you do. Because a man doesn't wear a hat and isn't dressed up like a doll you object to him: 'Clothes don't make the man,' she quoted quickly."

"No—but they sometimes help people's judgment of him. I am the last one who would judge a man by what he wears, if he is clean," Margaret added, "even if I do love nice becoming things for myself now. But it always seems to me that people who do unconventional things are unable to get the attention they desire and crave any other way so they do peculiar things to gain it. Of course I may be wrong. I have lived a shut-in life—thank goodness it is ended!"

"They are most of them poor. But they are happy," Joan went on, warming to her subject. They are all economically independent—"

"Aren't they all rather quick to put themselves under obligations, I scarcely ever come down that you aren't feeding one or two. Yet you seldom go to them."

"Don't you see, mother, that's the way it is down here. I have a little money, why shouldn't I share what I have with them? My work doesn't let me have much time to go out. I am studying journalism. I feel I shall have a message for the people some day, and shall need a vehicle for its deliverance. I was so stupid not to find my meter before. I can scarcely forgive myself for so wasting my time."

"I don't think you will find it wasted, dear. No knowledge is wasted. You will be all the better fitted for the career you have chosen because of your year's work in college. I only wish I were a college girl. They do have such good times as well as learning so much. Oh well, I'm almost 38 and you 18. It doesn't seem possible. Why, it seems only yesterday when you came home with your hair bobbed, and you were only 12. How I cried after I went to bed. You had lovely hair two long braids. I used to love to plait them." Margaret's voice had trailed reminiscently off.

"Don't hold post mortems, mother, and don't be sentimental. It isn't good form. Bobbed hair is convenient and healthy—two reasons why no one should object to it."

"Yes, dear," Margaret answered meekly.
